

Australia's
Global University

Nomination Form UNSW Emerging Thought Leader Prize

All fields in this nomination form should be completed by the nominator (self-nominations not accepted). Please read the submission guidelines before completing this nomination and complete the items in the checklist below.

Nominations close at midnight on Sunday 11 August 2019.

Submit this nomination via the submission portal.

Name of Nominator

Name of Nominee

I have read and accept the Terms for the Emerging Thought Leader Prize

The nominee is an individual who is an employee or student of UNSW or an affiliated Centre or Institute

I have provided a supporting statement from a third party (below), and I understand that a copy of this nomination will be sent to them at submission

I understand that a copy of this nomination will be sent to the nominee, and they will have the right to accept or reject this nomination

100-word summary

Briefly describe why the nominee should win the award, highlighting their achievements in thought leadership. This may be used for future promotion of the prize including when the finalists are announced.

Activity (700 words max.)

Describe and provide examples of the nominee's thought leadership activities within the past five years and how they:

- Demonstrate leadership;
- Serve the public interest, including, where relevant, by challenging vested interests;
- Are based in critical thinking and/or the use of evidence, and/or how they challenge the misuse, abuse, or devaluing of critical thinking and evidence;
- Are courageous, creative, persuasive and/or inspiring.

Impact (700 words max.)

Describe the impact of the nominee's thought leadership activities. Please provide examples and evidence where relevant - these could include links to online materials such as news articles, videos or reports.

Supporting statement provided by a third party (700 words max.)

Name of third party

This should support the nominator's statement. It should provide additional detail or examples of the nominee's activity and impact in thought leadership.

Optional: Career breaks and other opportunity costs (300 words max.)

This Prize recognises that career interruptions and other factors can impact a person's record. Please use this space to outline anything you would like the selection committee to consider in this regard.